BUCKINGHAM CENTRAL HIGH SCHOOL

In the summer of 1939 this building was completed. In September of that year the high school pupils from three schools, Buckingham, Curdsville, and Dillwyn, came together in this building. Since then the consolidation has gone on; new friendships have been made and old antagonisms forgotten; life here has been full and rich in many ways; we have learned much and enjoyed many pleasures together. No longer do we think so much of the community from which we come, but we all glory in the fact that Buckingham Central is our school home!

Irving S. Driscoll

Virginia P. Sadler

From Martha Washington College comes vivacious Mrs. Fontaine. Lots of energy, coupled with knowledge that comes from securing a B. S. degree, puts a hum of activity into the commercial department. Speed, accuracy, and efficiency are key ideals, and each pupil knows that a terrible scolding awaits him if he fails to attain this ideal.

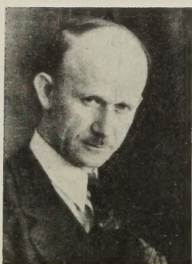

A stentorian voice rumbles through the halls- "All pupils report to Assembly". Locker doors click shut and scurrying feet hurry towards the auditorium. Mr. Driscoll has spoken. We wonder if something brewed in his chemistry class is responsible for a voice of such carrying power. W. and M. and the University of Va. had a hand in shaping this efficient leader and educator, and granted him B. S. and M. S. degrees.

"How I dread that Senior English! Miss Sadler surely makes you work". We wonder if Madison College and the University of Va. do that to you before they will give you a B. A. and a M. A. degree, or is it the result of the "Thirty Years" War"? Both maybe.

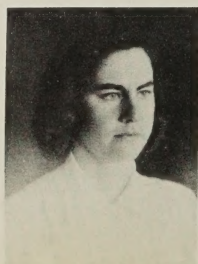

In addition to "lending a hand" to the many requests for help by both teachers and pupils, Mr. Rainey instructs his classes in math., science, French and geography. Elon provided him with foundation work, practical experience has added to his store of knowledge, and further work at University of Va. is about to be rewarded with a M. A. degree.

Surely Mary-Baldwin, on a memorable day in June 1939, did not know that this graduate would soon be taking such a wholesome and sincere interest in the pupils of B. C. H. S. It perhaps did know that Miss Lapsley, by giving her best, would inspire her pupils to do their best, whether on the basketball court or in the mathematics or English classes.

Early in life "Mitty" Moore got well up in the world. From that vantage point he views the surroundings with an impartial eye, but he frequently forgets the lowly things of life. His life at V. P. I. won him a M. S. degree. Somewhere along the line he developed a character that elicits the respect and love of all. He puts his whole soul into serving his agricultural boys.

R. B. Rainey

6 Mildred Lapsley

R. L. Moore

Miss Hall believes that statement that one who makes the most noise has little else to offer. No noisy display advertises the many fine activities taking place in her English and history classes. Her pupils delight in her quiet ways, and Flora Macdonald too knew what it was doing when it gave her a B. A. degree.

Quiet and unassuming, Mr. Sadler teaches his general science and math classes with a firm yet pleasant manner. He has a keen sense of humor, a genuine concern for the welfare of the boys and girls, and an alert interest in the affairs of the world. We wonder if that B. A. from the University of Va. gave him that enthusiasm for photography!

Storms may ruffle the "quiet" waters of school life, but Mrs. Rainey sails calmly on. At Elon, besides winning her degree, she became as good a fisherman as Mr. Rainey- she caught the fish she wanted. Her pupils in history prepare that lesson, for they know that at the end she will deal out marks with a positive hand.

As the pupils see the twinkle in his eye, they listen attentively for the subtle fun Mr. Spencer is sure to "poke" at their faulty answers to his questions in biology and math. When Hampden-Sidney awarded him his B. S., it also graduated one of its best athletes. Coaching is his real love and he does honor to it in his stern demand that all who participate play the game hard and fairly.

Friday afternoon. The last bell rings and the secretary rushes to the library waving an announcement from the office, but Mrs. Nuckols is already getting into her car, hastening to her Richmond apartment and to her "Woodrow". A glance around tells you that all is in order and that William and Mary did a fine job when it sent "Miss Snead" forth with a B. A. to rule over a library.

Eldon C. Grover is Pennsylvania's veritable songbird, the envy of the boys and the delight of the girls. His pupils in English, history, and music positively will not pronounce their syllables, and Ohio State University will not tolerate slurred syllables. His knowledge of music proves that he has a B. A. Mus.

MOTTO

What is worth doing is worth doing well.

FLOWER

COLORS

White Rose

White and Green

For four long years we've studied hard.
 Our lessons? We know them well!
 Is there anything you wish to know?
 Just ask us--we can tell.

But now we're looking toward the day
 That each will go his separate way
 And to meet again--(I hope we will!)
 As we ascend our life's long hill.

After we leave dear Central High,
 Our work and trials begin;
 But they'll be gone in the "bye and bye",
 And in the end, we'll win.

And now, we seniors of Central High
 Say to all, one last "Goodbye".
 To all our teachers--and everyone dear
 We wish success, and lots of cheer.

CLASS PROPHECY

SPECIAL TO THE NEW YORK TIMES, June 6, 1946

A reunion of the Senior Class of 1941 of the Buckingham Central High School took place last evening at the Biltmore Hotel. In the receiving line were the officers: Mr. Carl Rosen, president, now agricultural teacher at Buckingham Central High School, Buckingham, Virginia; Miss Elinor Purvis, vice-president, now private secretary to the Governor of Virginia; Miss Dorothy Gillispie, secretary, now commercial teacher at Buckingham Central High School; and Mr. John Griffin, treasurer, now treasurer of Buckingham County.

The other members of the class were welcomed by these four. Then everyone was at once happy by the witty remarks of Mr. Dan Senger, now professor at Covington High School, Covington, Virginia; of Dr. Richard Morgan, head surgeon in the University Hospital at Charlottesville, Virginia; of Mr. Tom Fitzgerald, electrical engineer at Richmond, Virginia; of Mr. Anderson Banton, band leader at Cincinnati, Ohio; of Miss Violet Lowe, now teaching in North Carolina. We also felt the sweet dignity of Miss Mamie Garland, now Latin teacher in the state of West Virginia; Miss Edna Smith, nurse in the St. Elizabeth's Hospital in Richmond, Virginia; Misses Grace and Pauline McCraw, both now secretaries in their home town, Dillwyn, Virginia; Miss Martha Spencer, now Home Demonstration Agent of Buckingham County; Miss Mable Wilkerson, a stenographer in a large business concern in Washington D. C. and Miss Gladys Moss, secretary in the clerk's office at Buckingham, Virginia. We also enjoyed the good humor and fun of Mr. Kendrick Garrett and Mr. Lacy Rush, farmers in Buckingham County and of Mr. John Emert, pastor of the Dillwyn Baptist Church, Dillwyn, Virginia.

All the members of the class were present and everyone was interested in what the past ten years had done for the others.

Miss Florence Guthrie, an outstanding member of the class, is now a music teacher at Madison College at Harrisonburg, Virginia, while Miss Dorothy Rush is now head nurse in the Johnson Willis Hospital in Richmond, Virginia.

Four other members of the class have entered the medical world. These are: Miss Nancy Rushing, head nurse at St. Luke's Hospital in Richmond, Virginia; Miss Maggie Dunavant, supervisor at the Memorial Hospital in the same city; Miss Zanle Trent, head nurse in a Detroit Hospital; and Miss Maude Jones, supervisor at the Southside Hospital at Farmville, Virginia.

Miss Christine Johnson is now head secretary of a large business concern of Chicago; Miss Celia Llewellyn is secretary for the Virginia Public Service Company at Charlottesville, Virginia; and Miss Virginia Llewellyn is now on leave of absence from her position as stenographer for one of the Virginia senators. These three were happy to renew their old friendship.

Miss Leota Senger is commercial teacher at Farmville, Virginia; Miss Frances Adcock is secretary for a large business concern at Roanoke, Virginia; and Miss Gertrude Charlton is secretary of Quinn Marshall Company at Lynchburg, Virginia.

Miss D'Elia Rainey is now teaching art at Mary Washington College at Fredericksburg. Another member of our class who entered the teaching profession is Miss Evelyn Seay, now teaching the first grade at Dillwyn Virginia.

Mr. Bobby Tapscott, a successful agricultural engineer of South Carolina, had with him his recent bride, and Mr. and Mrs. Ben Word, Jr. came up from their Virginia Dairy Farm to be present at this reunion.

Lieutenants Raymond Jamerson, Beverly Price, Cale Harvey and Clarence Phaup have recently been promoted for their distinguished service in the air corps in the U. S. army.

Mr. Eugene Davis, pilot of one of our great air liners, was present in the company of a charming young lady from Enonville, Miss Betty Jean Jones. She had with her a friend, Miss Odelle Dunevant, secretary for a large business concern in Philadelphia.

Mr. Harold Snoddy, Mr. Richard Gary, Mr. Frank Harris and Mr. Ivan Davis have recently received medals for their distinguished service as telephone operators in the rescue of the passengers and crew of the "Roosevelt" ship.

Other members from our class who are telephone operators are: Miss Frances Kidd, Miss Lela Clabo, Miss Frances LeSueur, and Miss Frances Simmons. All of these are located at various points in the state of Virginia.

Miss Nellie Maxey and Miss Mary Emma Tapscott have just received their B. A. degrees from University of Richmond.

Later in the evening Miss Virginia Elcan, and Miss Mary Apperson, now home economic teachers in the State of Ohio, Miss Ruby Crews, and Miss Geraldine Flood, secretaries in the same state, sang a quartet, our old school song, "Here's to Dear Old Central".

During the evening the class was largely entertained by moving from table to table and discussing their good old school days and raising a general racket as they had always done when together. Couples danced to the strains of Billy Spencer's orchestra with William Snoddy playing the saxophone; Calvin Blackwell, at the piano; Hay Baber, playing a guitar; Rufus Oliver, playing bass fiddle; and Junius Oliver playing the trombone.

The motion was made and carried that the class of 1941 from the Buckingham Central High School have at least one reunion every five years throughout their lives.

THE SENIORS IN HIGH WATER

There was a FLOOD IN '38;
Upon my WORD the hour was late;
It was a dark and RAINEY week;
All the LOEW houses began to leak.

'Twas then a KIDD came RUSHING by,
To SEAY the water, which was very high;
One girl's ambition was a SENGER to be;
So she sang some numbers 1, 2, and 3.

Over the fields the HAY was down;
We saw a GRIFFIN flying around.
The wind was raging, a sight to see;
It even blew down a SIMMON tree!

And in a RUSH the water was down;
Along the road some MOSS we found;
The people wondered what the PRICE would be,
To repair the damage that they could SEAY.

Home again! Home again! What a joy
For every little girl and boy!
Now GARLANDS we see lying around
In many places over the ground.

-Ealnor Shumaker

IN THE SPRING

Have you ever seen old Central in the spring?
Happy, dear, old Central in the spring?
When the children's cries are ringing,
And the Choral Clubs are singing,
For the victory home we're bringing, in the spring.

Have you ever seen a Senior in the spring?
A dignified Senior in the spring?
When the teachers' heads are hoary,
And the Senior tells his story,
Of expected wealth and glory, in the spring.

-Martha Spencer

JUNIORS

 B- is for Bersch, and oh, how coy!
 C- is for Catherine- a piano she plays-
 D- is for Dorothy with such winning ways;
 E- is for Ella, well known to fame;
 F- is for Forrest, just say the same.
 G- is for Gilliam so much of a man;
 H- is for Herbert, with his look of tan.
 I- is for interesting and happy as a lark;
 J- is for James- we all know his bark.
 K- is for Kitchen, the boy with curls,
 L- is for Lucy, never in whirls.
 M- is for Marietta with a very fair look,
 N- is for Nick, reading a book.
 O- is for Oliver, there are more than one,
 P- is for Phaup, never in a run;
 Q- is for Queens, which we all are;
 R- is for Ruby, who might be a star.
 S- is for Stanley, yes, he is here;
 T- is for Tapscott - he is also near.
 U- is for Ulysses, whom we study about;
 V- if for Virginia, the state which stands out.
 W- is for Wood, a very common name;
 X- is for Xerxes, we can't say the same.
 Y- is a letter of which there are none.
 Z- is for Zebra; now the fun is done.

-Marietta Baird and Nick Snoddy

JUNIOR JINGLES

When pranks are in vogue on the second floor hall,
'Tis Norma Allen who leads in them all.

Here's Marietta Baird, pet of the class;
We depend on her always, our dear little lass.

Then Nancy our president, whom we adore;
We love her and so does a certain sophomore!

"Our artistic genius", we heard someone say,
"And cheerfully helpful"-- that's Herbert Maxey.

Then Catherine Beatty, otherwise "Kay,"
Her love affairs give her much trouble, they say.

As Lillian Russell, or some vamp of the stage,
We think Doris Word will be quite the rage.

And now comes Hugh, our musical boy,
Who plays the guitar as if it were a toy.

Martha Ellen Jones, our biggest humdinger,
She may be small, but boy, what a singer!

Now there's Gillispie, the team's greatest sport,
O watch him! O watch him, he's rounding the court.

And there's Lucy Bowling, who's heading the crowd;
Just hear them, O hear them all cheering so loud!

Now look! There's Bailey, our noon entertainer,
Who acts like a clown or an animal trainer.

And here is Foster, our actor, our star.
His fame in dramatics is traveling far.

And now Nick Snoddy, our famous musician,
Whose music so charms us, he seems a magician.

And do we have beauties? For instance, we'll say,
There's Ella or Ruby for queen of the May.

Now time won't permit me to mention us all,
But if you would meet us, drop in for a call.

You'll find us fine fellows; sparkling like dew,
The JUNIORS! The JUNIORS! The class of '42!

ACTIVITIES OF F. F. A.

During the year forty-two boys in agriculture began and completed 123 enterprises, making a total profit of $2,122.70, or an average of $50.54 on their crop and livestock projects for 1940. A summary of the enterprises follows: 62 acres corn; 17.2 acres tobacco; 29.2 acres wheat; 3 acres truck crops; 23 pigs for pork; 9 brood sows; 375 baby chicks for pullets; 5 dairy calves; 2 beef calves; 3 beef heifers; 1 steer; 2 dairy cows; 8 turkeys for breeders; 182 laying hens. The results of the students records indicate that the best paying money crop for Buckingham is tobacco in 1940.

Other outstanding accomplishments for the year were as follows: the chapter held a Father and Son Banquet at which 100 fathers, sons, and guests were present; the members won over $80 in prizes at Local Farm Show, Five County Fair, and Lynchburg Farm Show; members won all prizes offered in F. F. A., Department for white and yellow corn at Five County Fair; members attended the Five County Fair and Lynchburg Farm Show in a body; one member, Elwood Rosen, won second place in Federation Crop Judging Contest and seventh place in State Contest at V. P. I.; seven members attended and participated in F. F. A. State Rally and Judging Contest at V. P. I.; Carl Rosen, Chapter president, won the Federation Public Speaking Contest; chapter won Federation Track Meet held at Hampden-Sidney College; chapter had basketball and baseball teams; five members attended State F. F. A. Camp at Margot's Beach.

The 1941 projects have been signed up, with 50 boys participating.
